

Statement of Accessibility

March 6, 2019

American Collegiate at American University continues its commitment to providing a website accessible to the largest possible audience, regardless of technology or ability. In order to further this commitment, American Collegiate at American University contracted an independent third-party (Promet Source) for an accessibility audit and review according to Web Content Accessibility Guidelines \(WCAG\) 2.0 level AA guidelines.

Due to collegiate.american.edu's site integration with external vendors, some areas within the site remain beyond American Collegiate's control. American Collegiate at American University is actively working to increase the accessibility and usability of the website.

American Collegiate at American University does not discriminate in its education and employment programs on the basis of religion, age, race, color, national origin, gender, marital or parental status, or disability and complies with Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, Title IX Education Amendments of 1972, Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 and the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) of 1990.

In order to further our commitment to nondiscrimination, we are continuing to work on the website in order to ensure the site conforms to level Double-A World Wide Web Consortium (W3C) Web Content Accessibility Guidelines (WCAG) 2.0. Such guidelines detail best practices for ensuring assistive technology users can access the site. The guidelines also make the site more user friendly for all people.

Should anyone find information or functionality which is inaccessible, please contact American Collegiate at American University via email at marketing@americancollegiate.com. We will make every reasonable effort to accommodate.
